

Interested in a career in Recruitment?

Volt are a leading global recruitment company focusing on Information Technology, Life Sciences, Engineering and Professional Services. We are part of a $1.1 Billion operation with customers and offices all around the world. We help our clients find talented people to ensure they keep at the forefront of technological innovation.

Careers at Volt

We have around 80 people based at our European headquarters in Redhill with a varied age range who are all very friendly and supportive. There are various departments within the company including accounts & finance, administration, marketing, IT support, sales and administration. We are regularly recruiting for people to work as Recruitment Consultants or Recruiters who help build the business through finding new clients we can help and sourcing candidates to fill their roles. We have an excellent record for internal promotion, for example our Operations Director progressed from a role as a receptionist.
