IT Transformation with Low Code and DevOps

IT departments in many organisations are burdened with mainframes that do not integrate with or 'speak to' each other. This limits their ability to undertake and deliver necessary projects within budget, on time and aligned to the business needs. Meanwhile, other organisations are gaining an edge by developing new enterprise applications speedily and constantly updating them to better meet user needs.

Are you thinking of replacing your legacy systems with one large enterprise resource planning (ERP) software? Perhaps you're hoping to finally integrate everything, but are afraid that this might take years, cost a fortune and represent a huge risk should it fail? Does it worry you that what appears to be easy for your competitors to accomplish with their IT agility, feels agonising or overwhelming for you?

The game-changer here is IT transformation through Low Code and DevOps, and Experis Consulting can help you achieve it. We are the trusted professional consulting arm of ManpowerGroup, a Fortune 500 company with decades of experience in delivering impactful workforce solutions. Our IT Transformation practice can empower your IT teams with the tools to collaborate to deliver the best solutions at speed.

Our 100-Day Low Code Systems Transformation service can integrate your critical systems, allowing you to accelerate user-aligned, visual app development, without resorting to an ERP system. And our 100-Day IT Organisational Transformation service with DevOps can eliminate your software development and IT bottlenecks. We can deliver both programmes concurrently, radically transforming your IT infrastructure in just three months. Talk to Experis Consulting about how we can help you unleash the creative potential of your company.
