

How to Bounce Back and Seize your next Interview!

1

Acceptance

Don't dwell over potential mistakes; accept the interview as a learning process that will help you improve for the future.

2

Confidence Boost

Build your self-esteem before jumping into the next interview with positive reinforcement, such as reviewing your past success.

3

Preparation is key

Note down the questions you are asked in your interview and prepare your answers for these and other common interview questions, for next time.
